MAXIMS & OPINIONS
OF THE
DUKE OF WELLINGTON :

SELECTED FROM

HIS GRACE'S WRITINGS & SPEECHES,

DURING A PUBLIC LIFE OF MORE THAN HALF A CENTURY ;

WITH

A Biographical Memoir.

BY G. H. FRANCIS, ESQ.

So many works have already appeared of which the Duke of Wellington has been the subject, that an explanation is due to the public on the occasion of adding one more to the number.

That explanation consists in the fact, that those works have been almost exclusively occupied with the military exploits of the Duke, which rendered him so illustrious during the first twenty years of his public life; while his political career, which may be said to have constituted a second life, distinct and different from the other, has been comparatively neglected.

To meet the want thus left unsatisfied, the Editor of these pages has endeavoured to supply materials, by which a just estimate may be formed of the Duke of Wellington's claims as a minister and as a statesman.

The volume will be found to contain the Duke's deliberate opinions as a member of the House of Peers, and during many years, as a minister, upon the great questions which have agitated the public mind since the commencement of the present century.

If there are those who hold the Duke of Wellington in light estimation as a politician, they will not continue to entertain that opinion, the Editor believes, after having dispassionately read the extracts of which this work is composed.

Interspersed with the Duke's more elaborate OPINIONS, will be found his MAXIMS on public policy, which, though few and unpretending, may be said to have sunk into the national mind.

PREPARING FOR PUBLICATION,

In one large octavo Volume, closely and beautifully printed in double columns,

A

BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY

OF ALL

LIVING NAVAL OFFICERS.

BY

WILLIAM R. O'BYRNE, ESQ.

THIS truly national and important undertaking, which has long occupied the attention of the Author, will consist of authentic details of the Life and Services of every existing Officer in her Majesty's Navy, from the rank of Admiral of the Fleet down to that of Lieutenant inclusively ; comprising, with a Statement of his Family Connexions, every minute particular of his Professional Career—the Ships in which he has served—the Engagements in which he has distinguished himself—his Promotions, Appointments, and Rewards,—all with their accurate dates.

The utility of such a work requires no comment. It will not only form an important book of reference for all our Naval Officers, but must prove acceptable to the thousands of individuals who are either by the ties of consanguinity, or friendship, related to them. The gallant services of many a deserving officer, hitherto left in obscurity, will thus be brought to light, and a record preserved of those Naval Heroes who have so materially contributed to elevate this country in the scale of nations, and to shed an undying lustre on the British name.

The Author, therefore, earnestly solicits all Officers, who have not as yet communicated information, to favour him, as soon as possible, with such particulars as will ensure accuracy in the arduous undertaking in which he is engaged ; and, if they feel disposed to possess a Copy of the work, to signify their intention to that effect. Letters are requested to be addressed (post paid) to W. R. O'BYRNE, ESQ., 9, Doughty Street, Russell Square ; or to the Publisher,

HENRY COLBURN, 13, GREAT MARLBOROUGH STREET.
