CORRIGENDA.

- Part I, p. 27, for "Purpuroidea Moreausia," read "P. Morrisii, Buv.;" Purpura Moreausia, is considered by M. Buvignier to be a distinct species.
- p. 48, for "Eulima pygmæa," read "Eulima vagans (junior)."
- p. 93, for "Patella nana," read "Patella cingulata (junior)."
- Part II, p. 24, for "Inoceramus Fittoni, Tab. iv," read "Tab. iii."
- p. 48, sixth line from the bottom, erase the four words within the parenthesis.
- p. 49, second line, erase the last three words. The raised ledge which supports the anterior muscular impression in Macrodon separates it from other sub-genera of Arca; in Cucullæa the ledge is posterior.
- p. 75. Both Cypricardie Bathonica, d'Orb. and C. cordiformis, Desh., occur in the Inferior Oolite of the Cotteswolds but in different beds, further observations have induced us to regard them as only varieties of the same species induced by peculiarities of the beds in which they occur.
